

Introduction

UKCE is part of a privately-owned education organisation. Our larger sister company, UKCBC delivers private higher education to more than 3,500 students across 5 campuses in London.

As the language training arm of the company we were established to bring a new edge to the group and to expand delivery of programmes to a global audience.

We are UKCE are very clear about our purpose and what we need to deliver for students. Our mission statement states that for everyone to see

UKCE commits to creating individual futures through an open learning partnership; using the most modern and effective means to deliver programmes to the greatest number and to help create a true global community of success and opportunity.

We have 4 key articles of business that help us towards achieving this goal. We will always:

Face the future

Achieve through

Quality Support a global community

Commit to the individual

We very much look forward to working with our partners to help achieve our aspirations for your business and for ours
